

The decision by Sinclair Broadcasting to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary two weeks before the election is just plain wrong.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. If they are going to air an anti-Kerry documentary, they should be mandated to show "Going Upriver", a pro-Kerry documentary, as well.

I urge you to put the politics aside and in the spirit of fairness demand that Sinclair show both documentaries -- or neither one.

Sincerely,
Tom Rapsas
